Additional Events / Requirements:

- Opening Ganapati Fire Ceremony (Students are given Initiation for Study)
- Ayurvedic Feast Prepared for the Students before Graduation
- Graduation Ceremony and Dhanvantari Fire Ceremony (Students are given initiation for Healing practice)

Additional Requirements:

- Every student will be required to attend a monthly Ayurvedic student consultation and lifestyle / spiritual counseling to help with their own health.

- Each student will be required to attend at least three lectures on Ayurveda and to present at least 1 lectures on Ayurveda before graduation.
- Each student will be required to attend at least 1 panchakarma retreat and to plan and facilitate at least 1 panchakarma retreat before graduation. The school can help students plan to travel to India to receive panchakarma treatments in a traditional setting if desired (traveling to India is not required).
- Each student will be required to visit at least two temples (one near and one distant). The distant Temple visit will be facilitated by the school as a group trip to the Shringiri Sadhana Center in Pennsylvania.
- Students will be required to attend at least 1 NAMA conference during their 4 years of study. There are limited opportunities to travel as a group with the school.
- In addition to the fire ceremonies for commencement and graduation, each student will be required to experience at least one healing puja (performed by an approved priest specifically for them).
- During their study, students will be responsible for organizing 6 seasonal school sponsored Yajnavams (fire ceremonies) each year for the peace and health of society at large. The practice of performing prayers for the benefit of society is considered by the ancient texts on Ayurveda a duty of the Ayurvedic physician.
- Students will help to run a working Ayurvedic clinic, pharmacy, and panchakarma center. In the first two years students will learn to make herbal preparations, perform basic treatments, and practice clinical assessment and case management. In the Last two years students will have many opportunities to meet and treat patients.
- Work study options are available for a discounted tuition.
